Leadership & People Management

WSQ Advanced Certificate in Team Leadership

Individuals attending these modules will be able to apply and contextualise leadership and people management skills and knowledge in a range of work activities, most of which are complex and non-routine in a variety of contexts.

Professionals will acquire mainly procedural knowledge, with elements of abstraction and theory in leadership, people management and managerial approaches. They will be able to use a significant degree of judgement, engage in some planning and allocation of resources, as well as guide others, under general supervision.
